AS THE AILSA LOOKS.

FIRST AUTHENTIC PICTURE OF THE WONDERFUL FIFE CUTTER.

In Many Respects She Resembles Our Champton Vigilant-English Yachtsmon Are Divided as to the Merits of the New Bost-Nome Nay She Can Sall Only In a Light Air. While Others Think She Is the Fastest Yacht Affest - The Allea's Performances with the Britannia. Herewith will be found the first authentic picture yet published of the Fife cutter Allsa, owned by Andrew Barclay Walker of Glasgow. The picture from which the cut is made is from a photograph taken by West & Son of Southsea, Scotland, and published in the Burges and Pen-mant of March 26. In view of the Ailsa's wonderful performances against the Britannia in light airs, the fact that she may yet replace Lord Dunraven's Valkyrie III, this fall in the races for the America's Cup lends additional interest to her at this time.

The Ailsa, which was designed by W. Fife, Jr., of Fraulie, Scotland, is a composite cutter of steel frame and wood planking. She is 126 feet over all, 89 feet on the load water line, 26 feet beam, and 16 feet draught. Her mainmast is 95 while, judged through Britannia, she is quicker in stays than the second Valkyrle was at her best—that is to say, before she set out to capture the America's Cup. The Alisa never had her boom topped until the morning of the day, nor, of course, her racing canvas set, and this fact considerably enhanced the high merit of her victory. Further, she had a topmast which was hardly stiff enough to carry the topasil, and not strong enough to put any strain on with a flying jib sheet. Her sails, of course, were nowhere out on the spars, there appearing to be about a fathom drift between the mainsail clew crinyle and the boom end, while it was neither up at the peak nor main, and there were very many feet of daylight between the foot of the jackyarder and gaif. It is a perfect suit of sails, however, and with the bright sun on the day, they grew apace, and will certainly drive the ship along faster the next time she races.

"The Alisa, with much less freeboard than Britannia, has a more snaky appearance, and looks very much longer by comparison with the Prince of Wales's cutter than she really is. She has far more overhang forward, and a longer counter, in comparison, than the Luna, which boat, it was said, she so strongly resembled; in fact, she is like nothing else on the top nor under the water for that matter. That a distinct advance in regard to speed has been made in the Alisa is undenlable, and it may be said to-day's essay did not tell us really how good a boat she is.

"The morning opened calm as a clock, and the comment of the match was a very

"The morning opened calm as a clock and the commencement of the match was a very tedious piece of business. A nice sea breeze gathered in during the forenoon, and, as it kept quite true and stendy afterward, the vessels had as reliable a light-weather test as could have been desired. For two rounds Britannia held pride of place, but during that time it was evident to any practised eye that she was only

FOR A JOINT CRUISE. The Atlantic and Larchmont Yacht Clubs

club for Monday evening at the Waldorf. As a number of important questions will come up relating to the club's cruise and the adoption of a new racing classification a large attendance of the members is expected. Some time ago what purported to be an itinery of the club's cruise was published. It was ated that the club fleet would rendezvous at Larchmont on Thursday, July 18. This report, merely a recommendation of the Regatta Committee, and through the idle talk of one of the members of that body was unfortunately made as they hold entirely different views of the Owing to the fact that the New York Yacht year, and the trial races will probably be held August, the members of the Atlantic Yacht Club have about decided to rescind the resolution passed at the annual meeting calling for an August cruise, and in all probability they will decide on Monday night to start their cruise on July 12. As this is the same cruise on July 12. As this is the same date as the Larchmont Yacht Club have selected for their cruise, and the Atlantics are talking of starting their boats at Larchmont, it has been suggested that it would be a good idea if the Larchmont and Atlantics hold a joint cruise instead of holding separate cruises, as usual. This suggestion has been very favorably received by the members of both clubs, and unless something unexpected turns up it will undoubtedly be adopted. A special committee, it is said, will be appointed by the Atlantic Yacht Club on Monday night to confer with a similar committee from the the Atlantic Yacht Club on Monday night to confer with a similar committee from the Larchmont Club.

Another important question to be considered is the matter of special prizes, Both Commodore Gould and Vice-Commodore Adams have expressed a willingness to contribute liberally toward club prizes. In fact, several thousand dollars worth of cups and trophies have been offered which it was thought would be salied for during the cruise. The general feeling of members, however, seems to be against racing for the trophies on the Sound. They argue that the Atlantic Yacht Club is really a New York Bay organization, and that any races for these special prizes should be salied for in home waters, or, in other words, on New York Bay, where the club belongs.

In addition to the above the club will consider a new racing length classification recommended by the Regatta Committee, which reads as follows:

Schooners—Class I, all over 95 feet racing length;

The rule regulating the crews allowed on the racing yachts will, in all probability be changed. Now the crews are unrestricted on yachts over 53 feet on the load water line, and yachts under 53 feet are allowed one man for every five feet in addition to the helmsman. The proposed rule based on racing length will read:

feet long and measures 25 inches in diameter. Her main boom, which is hollow, is 95 feet long, gaff 48 feet, while the bowsprit extends 23 feet toutboard. In many respects, particularly in point of beam and rather flat floors, the Allsa bears a close resemblance to the Herreshoff cutter Vigilant. In light or fair winds she seems to be as big improvement on any yacht pet built, but in strong breezes and anything of a sea she seems to be as much inferior to the Britannia as the latter is to the Vigilant under similar conditions. Owing to the fact that very meagre reports have been received as to the real reason of the Alisa's two defeats by the Britannia, and more floor, and four. In one of these, a cruising race, the Britannia did not start, and in another both the Alisa and Britannia were disqualitied for crossing the line ahead of the signal. Each you wins. The Alisa hals witches were scored in light airs and a smooth sea, while the Britannia won in strong winds and chopy seas. In justice to the Alisa, however, it should be stated that heither her sails nor rigging are in shap yet, which in a great measure accounts for her defeats. Another communication, signed by the Gas Engine and Power Company, drew the attention of the yachtsmen to bill No. 1,432, which has been recently introduced in the Assembly by Mr. Glesson, regulating the running of oil, naphtha, and electric launches, which, if passed, will seriously affect this type of boat. The bill reads:

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 28.—The Brooklyn regulars and colts played a very loose but interesting game to-day, in which the former won after a hard struggle. The attendance was very small, and only for the kindless of a few commercial men and the nine or ten waiters from the hotel, who received "comps," there would not have been enough speciators at the grounds to make a noise. Tammany Hall was a good thing in the second race. Those on the inside played this horse for all they were worth, and succeeded in reducing his price from 10 to 1 to 5 to 1. He won easily by a length. The track record for five furlongs, which is 59 seconds, was in danger to-day. The high wind, which blew down the chute at the rate of thirty miles an hour, helped Forest in the third race to equal the record. Bronston, at 10 to 1, a horse that has been neglected very much the past few days, won the last race. Summaries:

A Race Between Hal Dillard and Sidmont

CLEVELAND, March 28 .- An effort is being made to bring about a special race between Sidmont, 2:10%, last year's champion threeyear-old pacing stallion, owned in this city, and Hal Dillard, 2:04%, also a Cleveland horse. The Sidmont people have offered to put up their share of a purse, both owners to rent the fleveland track, and the race to decide the championship of northern Ohio. The owner of rial Dillard thinks Sidmont is too small game, and wants to save his horse to meet Joe Patchen, Robert J., and John R. Gentry. He says if Sidmont wants to race he can enter the free-for-all classes during the season.

OUR DRINKING WATER. It Is Filled With Impurities In Every Part of the Land.

New York city on a recent day consumed 77 million gallons of water. At least one million gallons of impurities were contained in this quantity. It is, therefore, not surprising that the question of purity of drinking water has invaded the business office. Rich men who are vexed by slight physical allments, or who are the victims of nervous troubles, are not slow to discover that there is danger in the water cooler. Many of them have their water boiled and chilled by refrigoration before they will drink it. Others have in their private offices jars of mineral waters. Many bank and railroad Presidents are particular about having the water they drink free from poisonous germs. People who would avoid the dangers which arise from water impurities at all times should make a practice of taking a little pure whiskey each day. Even should germs have invaded the systireat care should be taken, however, to have only pure whiskey, and it should be remem-bered that there is but one acknowledged pure medicinal wriskey, and that is Duffy's Pure Mait. It is not like other whiskeys. It is palatable, strongthening, nourishing, and does just what is claimed for it. Do not permit any one to convince you otherwise. Adr.

BOXING MUST STOP.

A Philadelphia Jury Convicts Three Men for Engaging in a Match.

PHILADELPHIA, March 28.-After being out since last Tuesday evening, a verdict of guilty was rendered this morning by a jury in the Quarter Sessions Court in the case against Charles McCarthy, Charles McKeever, and Jack Fogarty, who, with Horace Leeds, were indicted for aiding, abetting, and taking part in a prize fight. McCarthy and McKeever, respectively, met Leeds in four-round boxing bouts here on Jan. 24 and 26, Fogarty being the referee. Leeds has not been arrested, he being beyond the jurisdiction of the Commonwealth.

District Attorney Graham this afternoon called Judge Gordon's attention to the fact that McKeever, McCarthy, and Fogarty were in the custody of the court and asked that sentence be imposed. He said that the verdict itself would have more weight than the mere imprisonment of the men. Director of Public Safety Beitler said he regarded the verdict of the jury as a 'mighty weapon' for his department.

Judge Gordon said the men were mere tools, who had been hired to give the punishment, while those who promoted the schemes reaped the largest share of the benefit. The Judge called attention to the fact that a member of the minor judiciary of the city, a police magistrate, was one of those behind the whole affair, and he was only sorry that he did not have the principals before him so that they could be summarily dealt with.

McCarthy, McKeever, and Fogarty were then ordered to give $1,000 security each to appear before the court when wanted. In withholding a sentence of imprisonment Judge Gordon said that if the men should again fight in this jurisdiction, or in any other, he would call them before him and impose the severest penalty of the law.

In conclusion the Judge stated that the verdict should be a warning to clubs where boxing is held, and to persons hiring public halls for the purpose of giving such exhibitions. He hoped that the conviction of the men would have the effect of stopping the enterprises at once. Judge Gordon said the men were mere tools,

The members of the Seawanhaka Corinthian Yacht Club entertained a number of small boat their club house, 7 East Thirty-second street. The event was for the purpose of getting views on what rules should govern a contest between American boats and Brand's little half-rater, Spruce III, in case she should come over here to race. Up to date no challenge has been received from abroad.

The idea of half or one raters seems to have met with considerable favor among yachtsmen here, and, judging by the enthusiasm displayed at the dinner last night, a number of these little racers will be built, whether the Spruce III. comes over or not.
